AURCO 2025:
HUMAN INTELLIGENCE IN RHE
Cultivating and Maximizing in 2025

We teach and research in a digital age infused by evolving technologies—making the role of identifying and developing human intelligences ever more crucial. How might higher education better infuse creativity, critical thinking, and community collaboration into academic work? How can human thinkers curate information with more purpose and value? Can higher education inspire and sustain innovation at the same time? AURCO 2025 seeks to foster a dialogue among scholars, practitioners, and policymakers who are passionate about advancing human intelligence in a technology-driven world.
